Guidance on revisions

The agreement of the government development coordination authority can be acknowledged by any of the acceptable methods as agreed with the government, including an exchange of letters or minutes of the Project Board.